

The First Amendment provides free speech for all, not a select few. As a subscriber to XM Radio, I am paying for a service that goes above and beyond what local radio stations provide. When XM began providing instant weather and traffic, it added a valuable service to their product. This is their right, and the NAB has no right to take that away from XM and its listeners. The world of business is built on competition. If you do not evolve to meet the demands of the marketplace, you are doomed to failure. Having the government step in to protect your business from competition is blatantly unfair, and should not be allowed. Please prevent the NAB from this unfair and potentially dangerous attempt to stifle competition.
